

VALENTINA GLERIA

Blogger since 2004, photoblogger, freelance photographer, graphic & stationery.

I love to photograph landscapes, people in stolen moments of life and I have a real love for industrial archeology. I do not miss the chance to shoot at the Moon.

I am also a creative: I created and manage a small business, creating stationery items and making original craft and graphics projects.

ABOUT THE BLOG

ScattoperScatto was born in 2012 as a personal photoblog, with the desire of sharing my photographs as a result of my passion for this art.

Over time, it has evolved and today tells of many topics, cities, people and places in Italy and around the world, ranging from food to live events, with a special regard to my city, Padua, and my region, Veneto .

As a photoblogger I try to enhance the territories I visit, through activities, projects, companies and events and to transmit the beauty of them, inviting my readers to visit them, explore them and discover them, always preferring images as the first means of communication.

HOW CAN WE COLLABORATE

- PHOTOGRAPHY: Photoreportage and photographic services

I tell your idea, your event, your business or your product with my shots and my words.

- SPONSORED POSTS: I can write a post for the promotion of a service or product.

- BLOG/PRESS TOUR

- REVIEWS: presentation and promotion through my social channels of products that are in line with my person and my business.

- BANNER/LINKS: placement of links within my blog posts and banner ads in the blog.

For more information, see the "COLLABORA CON ME" page of the blog.

SERVICES

Photography is beauty, passion and dreams captured with a click.
